City Council Studies New License Fee Ordinance

The city council will hold another adjourned meeting Thursday evening at which discussion of a new ordinance for licensing business firms in Nevada City will be resumed.

Several ordinances in use in other cities of the type which is thought may be adaptable to the needs of the city will be discussed, among them the ordinance of Winters, Auburn, Morgan Hill and Grass Valley.

The need for a new ordinance was revealed by the auditors recently employed by the city, who reported that the present ordinance which imposes a license fee on outside concerns doing business in Nevada City, but exempts local firms from any license fee of any kind, was discriminatory.

Mayor Bennetts, states that whatever the fee imposed on local merchants, it will not be high, but that the council desires to make conditions in the new ordinance so that those firms who do business in Nevada City without paying any city taxes will pay their just proportion of the city's expenses.

PICTURE TAKING AT HIGH SCHOOL

By The CUG REPORTER

Friday was an important day in the history of the second six weeks of high school. To begin with, the morning's routine was changed by the taking of pictures of the Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes, the Band the Orchestra, the Honor Society, the football team, the Block N. C. boys and other school organizations. In the seventh and eighth periods in the afternoon an Armistice assembly was held. Ben Sweeney, student body president, introduced Mr. Earl Covey, well known Grass Valley business man and World War veteran who was the speaker of the afternoon. His interesting Armistice Day talk was appreciated by everyone.

The orchestra, which had played the opening march, played the exit, and the program was over.

Directly following the assembly a ten cent admission assembly was held at which Mr. Morgan of Marysville, a magician and impersonator, performed. He made the following impersonations: "The Farmer and Essau," "The Statue of Liberty," and "If I Could Only Be By Her."

He then entertained the audience with numerous tricks and problems of magic. He put scraps of cloth into an apparently empty bag and then drew out an American flag. He produced objects seemingly from the air and made them vanish back into thin air. He kept everyone chuckling from beginning to end with his numerous quips and quirks. The students wanted more but the time was up.

DEBRIS DAMS WOULD HELP FRENCH CORRAL

By KATE M. SULLIVAN

FRENCH CORRAL, Nov. 10.—W. E. Moulton, who has attended the hearings at Sacramento, on October 25th and November 8th, regarding the proposed construction of Dams in the Yuba, Feather and American rivers, for the purpose of assisting the Valley people with water for irrigation and aiding the mining interests to resume mining on a profitable basis, reports that it looks very favorable for the construction of these dams.

These dams would hold back the floods, thereby storing thousands of acre feet of water (now running to waste, and a menace to the cities of the valley) which would be utilized in the summer months for irrigation and power, and which would also raise the water level of the valley.

This in most cases would do away with the costly pumping of water for all purposes, and no doubt would prove far more beneficial, as this water from the mountains is much better for irrigation, than the water pumped.

The millions of gold that will be recovered, will not only bring prosperity to the State of California, but will aid greatly the United States, as it did at the time of the Civil War.

ARMISTICE DAY IS GALA EVENT IN NEVADA CITY

Banner Mountain Post, V. F. W., put on a snappy parade Saturday morning. Due partly to a change of the time to an hour earlier in order to assist Grass Valley in her celebration, the parade was not as long as it should have been and many were too late to witness the marchers as they came down Broad street, crossed the Plaza and on up Main into Commercial and then into Pine St., and back into Brad disbanding near the Redmen's Hall. This is the first Armistice Day parade of the post and was enjoyed by many.

The Nevada City high school band resplendent in their purple and nad white uniforms led by the marchers. The Veterans of Foreign Wars were next, followed by the Auxiliary, a detachment of Veterans from 1918 Co., C. C. C. of camp Dobbins, on detached service at Nevada City under command of Captain Ennie. Boy Scouts, with the Drum and Bugle Corps of Thomas-Hague-Hegarty post, No. 130, led by Commander A. Burton, full strength bringing up the rear.

The stirring patriotic airs well rendered by the high school band and Drum and Bugle Corps on the Clear crisp morning sent a thrill through hearts of spectators.

The banquet of Virginia baked ham, sweet potatoes and other good things was well patronized from 5 to 8 in the evening.

The program as published in Friday's paper was attentively listened to by a good sized crowd who were high in their praise of the excellently rendered numbers.

The talk of Vernon Stoll, Grass Valley attorney, was especially appreciated. He traced the cause of the depression to high speed efficiency generated by the world war, which, after the return of some two million soldiers from abroad, continued at the same high speed, throwing more and more men out of work, and increasing production along all lines far beyond the consumption point. The remedy proposed in the National Recovery Act is only coherent plan yet submitted to the American people to take this country out of the depression .Mr. Stoll urged patriotic and whole-hearted supoprt of the N. R. A. plan.

The Rev. Charles Washburn, rector of the Trinity Episcopal church, spoke briefly of incidents of the world war, some of them extremely sad, others amusing. Capt. Ennis, one of the C. C. C. camp officers, gave assurance of the best protected United States we have ever had, and urged building the navy to treaty strength. Banjo playing by Mr. McEwan, an accomplished player was well received as were the piano selections of Mrs. Grase Raymond and several other singers and musicians.

The card party was postponed on account of the lateness of the hour and will be held at a later date.

Particular praise should be given Messrs. Earl Raymond, commander, Dr. Frank McCullough, Sr., Commander of the in-coming officers, Al Kelliher, Max Weiss, Mrs. John Figurski, president of the Ladies Auxiliary besides several other members who were untiring in their efforts to make Nevada City's Armistice Day celebration the splendid success it was.

The program follows: "The Star Spangled Banner," by the audience; Invocation by the Rev. Charles Washburn; Banjo solo, "Moonlight and Roses" by A. N. McEwan; Piano solo, "Turkish March," by Mrs. Grace Raymond; Address on the N. R. A. by Attorney Vernon Stoll; patriotic address by the Rev. Charles Washburn; popular medley by A. N. McEwan; talk on preparedness by Captain Ennis; comedy sketches by Max Swirsky; a duet by Mrs. King and Mr. Ballantyne; demonstrations of legerdemain by Frank Carpenter; Benediction by the Rev. H. H. Buckner.

VOLUNTEERS PUT SKI COURSE IN GOOD SHAPE

A group of volunteers met last Sunday and accomplished a lot of hard work at the Nevada City-Grass Valley Ski course up on the Tahoe Ukiah highway.

They hauled nine cords of wood and staked it behind the club house. They cleared about half the ground for the new course and with another work day should complete this work. The new course will not be so steep and will be ideal for beginners. It will be 150 yards long when completed and by the time snow comes will be in fine condition.

The Ski course will be in the better condition this year than ever. It is expected it will be far more popular, although the course has been patronized by throngs of winter sport lovers each season.

Within the next few days a caretaker, preferably one with a wife, will be selected to take care of the club house and course. If next Sunday is fair it is planned to do another day's work with volunteer workers.

Those who went up last Sunday were Charles Sharp, Walter Carlson, Richard Parsons, Ellis Clark, Miles Coughlin, Joe Lopey and Gus Merrill of Nevada City, and Maurice Kach and Harry Abriel of Grass Valley.

RECKLESS DRIVER TO WORK HARD FOR 7 DAYS

E. M. Robinson, 24 and Joseph Williams, 21, of Nevada City were held in the city jail on charges of reckless driving, as a result of the accident early Friday morning on the southern end of the Gault bridge over Deer Creek on Pine street.

The car skidded on the bridge damaging the iron railing on both sides and doing considerable damage to the automobile. Traffic had to be detoured over the Plaza brdige most of Friday.

Both men appeared before Police Judge Miles D. Coughlin this morning and Robinson was fined $50 or sentenced to 25 days in jail. As he was unable to pay the fine, Judge Coughlin ten told him that if he put in seven days of hard work digging sewer holes for the city he would accept it in lieu of the fine.

Robinson is a C. C. C. camp boy who was mustered out a short time ago. He washed Dr. McCullough's car and then asked if he could take a ride which was granted. He picked up a few companions and made a trip to Colfax and Auburn and on their return hit the south end of the Gault street bridge.

Joe Williams was turned loose and given a warning that if he did not get some visible means of support shortly he would be arrested for vagrancy.

It is estimated it will take $750 to repair the bridge and Dr. McCullough stated it will take $100 to fix up his car.

BOSS MINE SHIPS ORE FROM NOR. SAN JUAN

On Friday, November 3 another 100 ton shipment of gold bearing ore was trucked to the Narrow Gauge Railroad in Nevada City from the Boss mine, north of San Juan. It was shipped to San Francisco by boat to Seattle and there it is milled by the Bradley interests who own the Boss mine.

The company has a crew of about 15 men steadily engaged at the mine taking out ore and doing development work.

For the last few months the company has been making regular monthly shipments of ore of a 100 tons to the shipment.

RICH ORE IS TAKEN FROM HUSSY MINE

Sinking operations have started at the Hussy mine in the Willow Valley district east of Nevada City, which was taken over by lease and option this summer by the West Mines Corporation.

Ore taken from the mine is rich. It is being milled at their Queen Lil flotation mill west of the city limits of Nevada City, keeping the mill busy one shift a day.

N. C. CHAMBER MEETS TUESDAY EVENING

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce meets tomorrow, Tuesday evening, November 14. Many important matters are to be discussed. All members are urged to be present in order to attend to these important affairs.

Captain and Mrs. B. F. Orr, retired, who have been living in the Celio apartments in Nevada City for the past few weeks left this morning for Washington, D. C. having been called there on business. Captain Orr will make the trip by auto, via the southern route, while his wife will take the train at Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Tucker returned last evening from a week end spent in Reno where they visited her parents.

J. R. Papillo, who has spent sometime visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Christian Anderson, of Nevada City, left Friday for Roseville to visit for a time.

Park And Pool Site Titles Soon Cleared

The city council is doing its best to make the "swimming hole" dream come true by the time warm spring days are here again.

Only one or two more quit claim deeds are necessary to clear the title to the five properties, which the site embraces. There will be between ten and twelve acres of the prettiest bit of scenery to be found within miles of Nevada City, and this right in the city limits. There are huge trees in the upper part of the park site, two natural sites for a beautiful pool for equatic sports and a level acre or so that ultimately will produce a lovely, lush lawn, but is now in alfalfa.

As soon as all titles are cleared, the city council proposed to begin the work of clearing away the underbrush and putting the ground in shape for the use of picnickers and pleasure seekers.

Tentative plans now made for the conduct of the municipal pool, when completed, in its charming, picturesque park site, include making it free to all users. Anybody who will take the time to stroll over this park on Little Deer creek just off Park avenue, will be pleased with the city council's decision in choosing the wonderful bit of woodland and stream for the city's park and swimming pool site.

NEV. CITY MAN VISITS OLD HOME IN MODOC

Don Carlos Billick, local assayer, just returned from a trip to Alturas, Modoc county, Sunday evening, where he went to visit his father, who is 72 years old. He went up by way of Redding, over Burney Mountain and says the roads are in fair shape, especially the new part of the highway just completed.

He reports that the Pickering lumber interests are at a standstill, with very little chance of resuming operations. He did not see "any rattlesnakes" but had a lot of car trouble which did not add to the pleasure of the trip.

SOLID WALNUT COUNTER FOR CITY COUNCIL ROOM

Taking advantage of th esale of furniture and fixtures in the old Citizens Bank building, the city council had purchased a long counter which will be placed across the room of the council chamber in the city hall. The counter is of solid walnut of a workmanship rarely equalled nowadays.

PAY INCREASE FOR 1100 BANK OF AMER. STAFF

Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and its associated state bank today announced increases in pay for 1,100 employes, to become effective on December 1, as a Christmas present to the employes affected.

In making the announcement, L. M. Giannini, Senior Vice President, pointed out that the present salary adjustment is the second of its kind in recent months and is in line with the bank's previously announced policy of restoring salaries to a normal basis as general conditions and earnings continue to improve, and its desire to cooperate with the National Administration's program of increasing the volume of business by improving purchasing power.

The full amount of the increase for the month of December will be paid on December 15, in order to provide employes with these extra funds for Christmas shopping to stimulate the volume of holiday trade.

The present revision, placing the salaries of 77 per cent of the institution's personnel on the normal predepression basis of pay, is made possible by the substantial and sustained improvement in the bank's earning record. Between the call dates of September 30, 1932 and October 25, 1933, a period of approximately a year, the combined banks earned $8,078,356 from which $1,550,000 was paid in dividends. During the same period total deposits increased $35,799,275, and 364,416 new accounts were opened.

EMERGENCY SCHOOLS FOR MINING CENTERS

Nevada county has two emergency schools, one at You Bet, and the other at the Spanish mine near Washington.

Miss Martha Lawrence, a teacher of Nevada City, is teaching the You Bet school which has 23 pupils.

The Board of Supervisors allowed transportation charges for the children at the Spanish mine when a request came for schooling for the children. As no one cared to take the position over the road between Washington and the Spanish mine in the winter time, the mine operators offered to supply board and room if the county would secure a teacher. Mrs. McMullen was secured and is now conducting classes in the dining room of the boarding house at the mine, it being a temporary winter affair.

At Steep Hollow where Mr. Frank Crampton has a large gravel property, volunteer workers came to County Superintendent Mrs. Ella M. Austin, and asked for books to be used in instructing children at the property. Mrs. Austin ordered a lot of books from the state office in Sacramento and sent them out to the children.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY CALLS MRS. CELIO TO COAST

Mrs. Katherine Celio and her two children, Katherine and Gove, were called to Santa Cruz yesterday, by the double tragedy in her girlhood home in Santa Cruz, which claimed the lives of her father, Jacob Reuf, and brother, Oscar Reuf.

The many friends of Mrs. Celio and her two children have expressed their profound sympathy for them in the overwhelming catastrophe which happened Saturday.

EVERYONE MUST HELP

Not another winter like the last!

That was the pledge of the new Administration when it came into office. Every effort is being given to achieve it. It represents the most earnest hope of every citizen.

But government alone can't do it all. We can spend money for relief—and we are, but there is never enough. We can build public works—but there comes an end to that, and the public treasury is not bottomless. A large share of any kind of relief effort must be borne by the individual citizen.

And this doesn't mean charity, vital as that is. The best kind of relief is that which spends money and provides jobs on projects which are permanently valuable, and gives those who pay the bill something really needed. That is true whether the work is done by the Federal government or the state, or John Jones down the street.

A dollar spent for a new house, or to repair an old one, does double duty. An extremely large share of it goes directly to labor in your own town. The rest of it goes to various industries, through numerous pockets. It touches many states and communities. It is always growing—and by the time it has run its course it has done the work of fifty or a hundred dollars.

Remember that—and remember too that you have selfish interest in building and repairing while prices are still in the economic basement.

GOLD AND EMPLOYMENT

Mr. Roosevelt's gold policy under which the government offers a market at the world price for as much of the yellow metal as it offered to it, is having a salutary effect on this country.

The purpose of the plan as affecting currency and credit expansion is of only academic interest to most of us.

It's direct effect will doubtless be an important expansion of mining activities, both here and abroad. Gold is like everything else—the wider and more profitable the market, the more effort will be given to finding and developing the product.

Thousands of men will find new work in the mining industry. Thousands of families will receive their livelihood because of it. And millions of dollars will be put in circulation, to surge through the veins of industry and speed the process of recovery.

THE GAME'S THE THING

You say the N. R. A. won't work!
Well, tell us then, what will;
Of course you have a better plan
With which to fill the bill.
Come now explain, elucidate,
We're eager to begin
To work out your profound ideas—
This game we've got to win!

You have no plan! My word, how come?
You've done a lot of talking;
If talk is all you have to give,
There's little sense in balking.
We can't win this big game, you know,
Without cooperation;
So line up with your own home team
And buck like all tarnation.

Don't stand around and whine, "we can't;"
That's no way to play ball;
We're up against a tough old team,
Don't take time out to stall.
Be on your guard, do well your part,
The game is well begun;
And Franklin D. has got the ball!
Let's help him make the run.

We may get knocked about and bruised,
Or winded in the game;
But if we have good sporting blood,
We'll fight on, just the same;
Then finally, beyond a doubt,
We'll shout, "Upon my soul,
A touch down! Uncle Sam converts!
Hurrah, we've won the goal!"

WEEKLY COMMENT

By CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

Every week from now on till December 30, I shall try to keep on reminding you of the firemen's ball, which occurs on the evening of that date.

My wife went to the V. F. W. doings the other night, I stayed home with the three hopefuls, we had a splendid time at home.

Mrs. said she had a good time too, well anyway she had a better dinner than I can afford to buy and that is something. The program fulfilled all expectations.

There was a time in my life when if I had seen the Winsor McCay cartoon such as was in a Metropolitan paper of Sunday November 12th, I would have resented what appears to be moralizing, puerile, unnecessary and ambiguous. But today when that same cartoon appears I heartily agree with Mr. McCay. The picture by the way shows a cobbler at work with his family lined up behind him. The inscription on this picture runs, "Education For His Children, Later, a Good Home of Their Own." At the bottom is this caption: SMALL INCOME. The next picture shows the same cobbler but behind him are three men one labeled "Bookmaker," another "Gambler," a third, "Stock Gambling," and the same inscription, SMALL INCOME. What M. McCay portrays is that some make good use of the income they have. Others seem not to understand or care what becomes of their hard earned money and eventually they become public charges.

I am of late entirely averse to any change in my living habits. I do not like to have the furniture changed around. The same mealtime, and all such funny ideas. What is this old age? If I break my mustache cup I shall certainly shave off my mustache.

Cranberries when raw are not the least bit picturesque, but when made into sauce or jelly they assume that gorgeous red and a scintilating shininess. To look at them is to want them and one taste calls for more.

American Heroines

By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

Mary Lindley Murray

A CENTURY and a half ago it was woman's part to mind her home and children and leave the making of history to the men. But Mary Lindley Murray not only minded one of the most splendid homes in early New York city, was a popular hostess and mother of two charming daughters and of Lindley Murray, the famous grammarian, but it has been claimed that but for her, "The history of the United States might easily have been different!"

General Washington at one time made her home his headquarters during an important council of war.

After his defeat at the hands of the British at the Battle of Long Island, in August of 1776, Washington retreated across East river and into lower Manhattan. By September 13 the British had gained control of both the East and Hudson rivers, so that Washington felt his position in New York city untenable and commenced a retreat northward, to a more strategic location on Harlem Heights. This move was only partially completed, and General Putnam with 4,000 men, nearly one-fourth of the Colonial army, still remained in lower Manhattan, when the British decided to throw a line across the island, cutting off further retreat.

From her home at the corner of what is now Park avenue and Thirty-seventh street, Mrs. Murray watched the retreat of the Americans and the coming of the British with anxious eyes. She planned her campaign. In view of her husband's Tory sympathies it was but natural that the British leaders, Generals Howe and Clinton and Governor Tyron, should stop by the Murray house for a chat. Moreover, their trap for the Americans was almost set; General Putnam and his men were practically theirs. So they entered the house gladly, leaving their men lolling impatiently outside. For two precious hours Mrs. Murray kept them there, plying them with wine from the famous Murray cellar, with compliments and witticisms. Meanwhile, aided by the young Aaron Burr and under cover of a nearby wood, General Putnam moved his entire troops northward and out of danger. The following day the Colonists won the Battle of Harlem Heights.

At the present time plans are afoot to commemorate the services of Mrs. Murray by erecting an imposing monument over the Thirty-fourth street portal of the subway tunnel on Park avenue.

FRENCH CORRAL, Nov. 10—Pleasant weather had prevailed since our good rain, and altho the nights are chilly, as yet we have had no frost. Of course the cold nights deter the growth of feed for stock. However, green fields have displaced the appearance of drought. Our wild flowers have gotten somewhat out of line, for this week, one of our neighbors in rambling thru the woods found the wild azaleas in full bloom.

Tent life still goes in our section and along "the Ridge". Several who have been absent for several weeks or months have returned. Among them, Messrs. Dutra, Wright and Nichols.

George Stevens of Pike City was a Saturday visitor.

Miss Frances Moulton of Sacramento spent the week end with her parents in French Corral.

Elinore Haslett, Eddie Jarvis and Warren Thomas have gone to Pike City where they have taken a contract for cuting wood for the Alaska mine.

J. E. Ebert of Marysville had business here Tuesday.

J. Galvin who represents the Catholic Extension magazine, visited this section Tuesday. He was accompanied by Mrs. M. Sullivan of Nevada City, who took this opportunity to visit her native town of Sweetland. Mrs. Sullivan is the daughter of the late P. H. Leonard and wife who were residents of Sweetland for many years before moving to Nevada City.

Mrs. Irma Laird of Alturas, who is Grand President of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West, paid her official visit to Columbia Parlor, No. 70, N. D. G. W. Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 8. She was accompanied by Past Grand President Alison F. Watt, of Manzanita Parlor, Grass Valley, and Past Grand President Mrs. Anna Nixon Armstrong of Woodland Parlor, and D. D. Gr. Pres. Clara Phillips of Laurel Parlor, Nevada City and Assistant Gr. Sec. Ellis of San Francisco, and Sister Lorain Keast, B. Taylor, Florence George, Anne Whiting and V. Jones of Manzanita Parlor.

A light luncheon was served before commencing lodge work. Altho but six members of Columbia Parlor could be present a most enjoyable and interesting meeting was held and the faithful few were given new courage by the kind and encouraging remarks of their guests.

At the close of the meeting the Grand President was presented with a gift book, "The California Missions," bouquets of madrone and Toyon berries and flowers were given to all.

Again death invades the "Old Ridge Circle", and a dearly beloved native is taken. Ernest or "Ernie" Brown as he is familiarly known has passed into eternity. He was a member of one of our highly respected pioneer families and beloved by all his neighbors and friends. To mourn him are left two sons, Levin and Charles and two sisters, Miss Mollie Brown and Mrs. M. B. Church, together with several nieces and nephews.

To them we extend deepest sympathy.

The Board of Supervisors honored us with a visit yesterday, looking over certain suggested improvements through Main street, and with their knowledge of the wants of the people, there is little doubt but what these improvements will be made.

As we are not often favored with a visit from them, we hope they will be so impressed with our section, and the great improvements in our roads that they will make frequent visits.

DRIVER'S SHIRT BURNS DESTROYING A $5 BILL

CAMPTONVILLE, Nov. 13.—E. H. Hays, Marysville stage driver between this place and Dobbins had a narrow escape Wednesday when on his return trip from Dobbins, the engine of the car took fire, and in attempting to put it out, gasoline and fire lit on his shirt, igniting and burning it partly off before he could remove it. He finally managed to get the fire out with aid of some sacks which were in the truck. The car was not damaged by the fire; but Hays lost a package of cigarettes and a five dollar bill which were in the pockets of his shirt.

TAX CLEARANCE FOR MOTORISTS AFTER MAR. 5

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—A bulletin issued today by the Department of Motor Vehicles informed motorists of California it will not be necessary for them to secure tax clearances on their vehicles from city and county assessors on applications for 1934 license plates made prior to March 5, next.

While a new state law requires applicants for registration to submit such clearances with their applications it is not effective until March 5th and, therefore, will not affect the bulk of the motorists during the coming renewal season, beginning January 2nd.

Registrar Russell Bevans announced the Department would begin accepting renewal applications by mail on December 1st and would open the counters at Sacramento and all branch offices on January 2nd.

Bevans explained most of the owners of motor vehicles will have applied for and received their 1934 plates long before the new law is effective. The only ones likely to be affected are truck owners who do not seek registration ordinarily until later in the year.

Captain and Mrs. Frank Williams of Lincoln, visited with members of V. F. W., post in Nevada City Sunday. Mr. Williams is a former naval officer

Failure of New Deal to Reach Every Farm Area Creates Midwest Crisis

"DURING 1933, American farmers will receive 33 per cent more dollars for their products than they got in 1932 . . . (but) some sections are not better off than they were a year ago." This excerpt from President Roosevelt's recent speech explains current farm difficulties in the midwest.

While the "average farmer" undoubtedly has benefited from the New Deal, this mythical person doesn't exist in states suffering from short crops or price slumps in individual commodities.

In South Dakota, for instance, the crop failure has been almost complete—3,000,000 bushels of wheat produced this year against 1932's 37,000,000. And, in North Dakota and Nebraska, the crops have been almost as poor.

In other farm areas, however, where 1933 wheat is plentiful, and where 55 to 60 cents a bushel can be gotten for it now as against 37 cents last year, the farmer is relatively content.

On the other hand, the livestock raiser is disgruntled when he compares present prices with those of 1932.

It is this fact, that U. S. farm areas are not benefited equally by the recovery program, which has given rise to unrest in the middle west. This disturbance has been expressed in recent weeks by the embargo on North Dakota wheat by Gov. William Langer of that state; the resignation of Keith Neville, former governor of Nebraska, from the post of Nebraska's NRA chairman; Senator Norris' endorsement of a greenback issue as a means of raising farm prices by currency inflation; calling of a nation-wide strike by the National Farmers' Holiday Association, and other developments.

Goal of the holiday association strike has been announced as "cost of production." The association asks that farm prices be high enough to assure the farm owner a 5 per cent return on his real estate, interest, and depreciation costs for his equipment, and a monthly salary of $103.46.

To accomplish their aim, individual strikers were asked to refuse to sell their commodities except for prices equal to the cost of production; to buy no merchandise except that absolutely necessary; to refuse to leave their homes; to refuse to meet capital payments on debts until prices reach production-cost levels, and to refuse to pay taxes or interest on debts out of money required for necessities.

Some of the principals in the midwestern farm crisis are shown here. Above left is Gov. William Langer, North Dakota, who set an embargo on his state's wheat. Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska, who advocates currency inflation in the form of a greenback issue, is shown above right. Below, Milo Reno of Des Moines, Ia., leader of the National Farmers' Holiday Association, is shown with A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, as the former pleaded for the aid of the labor organization in support of the national farm strike.

RECOGNIZING the seriousness of the farm situation, President Roosevelt and officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration have taken steps to soothe the disturbed farm element. The president's promises of a managed currency and increased farm prices have been well received in some quarters, although Milo Reno, leader of the National Farm Holiday Association, and Governor Langer have expressed their disappointment.

AAA officials have approved the plan of making wheat and corn producers eligible for loans from the Commodity Credit Corporation. And the AAA is considering amending the agricultural adjustment act to broaden its program, and make federal cash bonuses available equally to all farmers, instead of just those producing commodities covered by the act.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS
